Cuenta la historia encontrada
dentro de una botella encorchada,
que en tiempos en que los países
aún no habían sido descubiertos,
un pirata migrante llamado Barbanota
construyó un barco y se hizo a la mar.

Iba en busca de 100 tripulantes
para una misión particular:
hallar la música del universo,
para en una botella poderla guardar.

De pelo colorín, pinchoso y duro como el de un puerco espín,
tenía un intenso olor a "pata", pues mientras navegaba
no lavaba ningún calcetín.

Partió la misión tocando su gaita a todo pulmón,
su guía serían las estrellas, los planetas y el sol.

This is a story that was long overlooked,
sealed away in a bottle yet to be uncorked.
In a time before countries had even been discovered,
a travelling pirate named Songbeard, set sail on a ship, multicolored.

With a peculiar mission, he searched for 100 mates for his crew.
Bottle up the music of the universe, was all they had to do.

His hair was weathered and tough,
prickly as a porcupine and bright red.
His smell of rotten feet was rough,
his unwashed socks were something to dread.

So he started his mission, playing his bagpipe for fun,
his guides were the stars, the planets and the sun.

Pasaron varios días de esta travesía
y llegó a lo que ahora es África y dijo:

Soy Barbanota el pirata migrante,
necesito 100 tripulantes
que me ayuden a encontrar
la música del universo
para en una botella poderla guardar.

¡No sabemos dónde está!
Respondieron los 10 animales
que habitaban en el lugar,
pero migraremos contigo
y te ayudaremos a buscar.

Traeremos nuestro instrumento:
el yembé
y percutiremos todos juntos
haciéndolo sonar: Tem Té.

Ngiii Ngiii
Barbanota tocó su gaita:
¡Suban a bordo y en marcha!
Yo no sé tocar yembé,
pero listo estoy para aprender.
Recuerden llevar la nueva cuenta,
ahora tripulantes solo nos faltan: 90.

Several days passed when he arrived
at what is now Africa and he said:

They call me Songbeard,
the migrant of pirates.
And I'm looking for 100 crewmates,
brave enough for all climates.

The music of the universe
is what we shall find
and put it in a bottle,
the only one of its kind.

We don't know where it is!
responded 10 animals,
who lived in that place.
But we will travel with you,
and help with your chase.

We'll bring our instrument,
the one and only jembe.
We'll drum all together,
making the sound Tem Tey.

Ngiii Ngiii
Songbeard played his bagpipe.
All aboard and full speed ahead!
I can't play jembe,
but I'm ready to learn.
Remember that keeping count is for the mighty,
now the crew we need is: 90.

*Twiki ik, Twiki ik, Twiki
Twiki ik, Twiki ik, Twiki*

*Ngii Ngii, Tem Tey Tem Tey, Pruuuu, Iaaaar, Fan Fie, Cling Ciano - Ngii Ngii, Tem Tey Tem Tey, Pruuuu, Iaaaar, Fan Fie, Cling Ciano...

But wait. What is that sound?

*Twi keek, Twi keek, Twikee
Twi keek, Twi keek, Twikee*

50 golondrinas estaban a bordo del barco,
somos aves migrantes,
escuchamos que necesitas 50 tripulantes.

Ngii Ngii
Barbanota tocó su gaita,
hemos llegado a 100,
detengamos la marcha.
Fue en ese minuto cuando miró a todos y se dio cuenta:
¡La música del universo es esta gran orquesta!

Un pedacito de mundo tocado por cada uno,
qué gran respuesta!

Escribió la historia,
la puso dentro de una botella,
y pidió antes de encorcharla
que cada tripulante pusiera una nota en ella.
Si escuchas detenidamente el mar,
seguro esta melodía podrás escuchar:

Ngii Ngii, Tem Té Tem Té, Pruuuu, Iaaaar, Fa Fo ña, Cling Ciano, Twiki ik, Twiki ik, Twiki
- Ngii Ngii, Tem Té Tem Té, Pruuuu, Iaaaar, Fa Fo ña, Cling Ciano, Twiki ik, Twiki ik, Twiki...

50 swallows were on board the ship,
we are migrating birds yes indeed,
we heard a crew of 50 you need.

Ngii Ngii
his bagpipe played,
we have reached 100,
throw the anchor, let's stay.
It was in that moment, he saw the crew and noticed;
the music of the universe, in an orchestra so grand!
A piece of the world played by every one,
was the very answer,
he could never have planned!

He wrote the story and put it in the bottle,
but before corking it,
he asked each crewmate to place a musical note inside.
If you listen carefully to the ocean,
you will surely hear the melody world wide:

Ngii Ngii, Tem Tey Tem Tey, Pruuuu, Iaaaar, Fan Fie, Cling Ciano, Twi keek, Twi keek, Twikee
- Ngii Ngii, Tem Tey Tem Tey, Pruuuu, Iaaaar, Fan Fie, Cling Ciano, Twi keek, Twi keek, Twikee...
